

Declaration on H.R. 4173 "Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act" Section 1502 "Conflict Minerals"

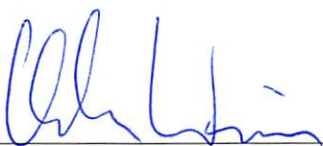

The obligations arising from the above-mentioned law, which apply to listed companies selling products containing so-called conflict minerals (in particular gold, tungsten, tin or metals such as tantalum), are observed with the utmost care by our company, Global Components AG.

As a German company, we do not directly fall within the scope of this law, which does not provide for a special form of declaration for suppliers. Nevertheless, we pay close attention to the developments (German, European, international) regarding ethical, social and environmental standards.

As an EMS service provider, we are not currently aware that our suppliers use the conflict minerals in question. Here we are dependent on the declarations of our suppliers. If we have any information to the contrary, we will take a position on this immediately.
